

Greetings gamer,

This game has been designed in a way that evolves the retro arcade game Pong by taking it to a level that is more challenging and more modern, by adding new aspects like randomly spawned barriers. However, it also respects the initial effort made by Atari Interactive in 1972, by retaining classic characteristics like the black background or the simple paddles, that lack the extraordinary design of a 2020 game. This game can be a history lesson for the youngsters that have been playing since they were born, much more futuristic games and it can also be a time travel for the senior gamers, who will have the chance to reminisce the old times, back when they were teenagers. In this game you can play with your opponent to settle who is better, but you can also work together as a team and have fun, by keeping the ball in the field for as much time as you can. Do not forget, this is a game and it's purpose is for you to have fun, so you can choose what is best for you! We thank you for your support to our game, and we hope that you will find it entertaining. Good luck!

The developing team